

Amphibians

Have moist skin

Cold blooded

(body temperature changes)

Young hatches from eggs

Lives on land and water

Birds

Have feathers, beaks and wings

Warm blooded

(body temperature stays the same)

Babies hatch from eggs

Mammals

Have fur or hair

Warm blooded

(body temperature stays the same)

Give birth to live young

Babies drink their mother's milk

Reptiles

Have scales

Cold blooded

(body temperature changes)

Young hatches from eggs

Fish

Have scales and fins

Cold blooded

(body temperature changes)

Use gills to breathe underwater